

'Personal' benefits

Origami 5
plant from Personal Factory.

One of the biggest Italian producers of expanded polystyrene (EPS) has completed its business of thermal insulation with a series of specific complimentary products using the Origami system from Personal Factory. An advantage of using this system was that the whole process could be carried out quickly including certification, new product development, marketing and technical development, said Personal Factory. Flexibility was another advantage; there is no limits in producing many new products with specific customisations using the Origami system, which is controlled and tracked from Personal Factory's headquarters. ■
